

Parks and What You Meant to Me

Poison the Well

Wrap around the white pavement feels so inviting so lie back and gain bruises with me it's been a long time since I've seen you from above your still beautiful leave here we'll start something new in our embrace with that crash your parts into mine intoxicate me
with your many voices I'll never leave you never leave here I'll never leave you intoxicate me
with all our voices and crash your parts into mine so lost inside of you till now I think we waited too long lock your doors and close your shades I'll never find
