

Purple Sabbath

Poison the Well

From a distance I stared
Wondering if it was safe
To reveal myself
Flesh colored sand foam collects at the edge
With two inserted legs
I can taste your blood from here

Rising from my home
Eyes black as hell

I make my way towards the shore
Eyes black as hell
Looking on with flowers in my eyes
The sun trading you cancer for your kids
Upon my arrival your heart stops

I make my way towards the shore
Eyes black as hell
Struggling to be like scales
They tried to show you but all you wanted
Was the sun

Nudging and nudging your leg disappears
Not having control
Eyes lock you scream and scream
To your young
This was supposed to happen to them
It makes the rest you
Disappear!