

Bleeding Into You

Poisonblack

I saw sunsets fall to ash
I sink down below without you Into the long-term torture, far from the soothing light where everything I'd sacrifice to keep you here with me and give a name to this pain I hold so dear

What a feeling again
As iron cuts open
The all-ending grace of you
What heaven once sent
The devil has broken
so I am bleeding into you deep behind those pure-green eyes there's the spark that lights itself aflame only needs one look and the hollow becomes ablaze for pain I suffered into bliss peeling petals one by one Until the curtain falls I lay my trust in you

what a feeling again
As iron cuts open
The all-ending grace of you
What heaven once sent
The devil has broken
so I am bleeding into you