

Down this road once again and it feels like beneath the dust of time
Down this road once again and it feels like this will be until the end of my time

Oh how I wish you were here to make the sighs of despair disappear Oh how I wish you could see that in spite of it all what you mean to me

Oh how these years have been long while humming the notes of the dead man's song Oh how I wish they would fade all of them wounds but I know it's too late Scars are there to remind

Along this road once again and still it seems like it leads nowhere but away Along this road once again and still it seems that it'll be always this way