

The Last Song

Poisonblack

There is not much in this life I enjoy anymore
Everything's fading
The black hole within keeps on growing and swallowing all Hell is awaiting I've floated through years in the shades of bloodred and grey Just hanging on Now tight is the noose 'round my neck as I yield, slip away
Soon I'll be gone

Dying of thirst I am Dying for thirst I am

Where did I go wrong?
This life's been drowned for far too long
And I know this is the last call Where did I belong?
This road has strayed for far too long
And I know I'm at the end this is the last song

I've burned every bridge that I've built so the river runs wild Everything's fading
I tore down the lives of the loved ones with razorblade smile Hell is awaiting I've floated through years in the shades of bloodred and grey
Just hanging on Now tight is the noose 'round my neck as I yield, slip
away
Soon I'll be gone

Deny for thirst I can Rely on thirst I can