Next Life

The sun is set the rain has passed Who knew tomorrow wouldn't last I wear the cross that bares your name To wash away all the pain Beneath the scars I'm torn apart Alone to mend this broken heart

In the next life We can be together This time forever In the next life Now there's no more goodbyes Because you left me helpless on the other side I'll find you there in the next life

Can't rest in peace but I'm too cold Beyond a world of dreams untold There's a place where we can be together To live and love only blue skies Your a star that still shines bright My guiding light to get me home

In the next life We can be together This time forever In the next life Now there's no more goodbyes Because you left me helpless on the other side I'll find you there in the next life

This time I'm going to make things right I'm going to make it up to you I'm going to learn from my mistakes But inside I'm so lost without you As I draw my last breath As I close my eyes I know the next thing I'll see is you

In the next life We can be together This time forever In the next life Now there's no more goodbyes You said when you left me helpless on the other side You'll find me there in the next life

In the next life I'll find you there In the next life I'll find you there In the next life Pop Evil
