

Machine Gun

Portishead

I saw a saviour
a saviour come my way I thought I'd see it
at the cold light of day but now I realise that I'm Only for me

If only I could see
You turn myself to me
and recognise the poison in my heart there is no other place
no one else I face
remedy, we'll agree, is how I feel here in my reflecting What more can I say?
for I am guilty
for the voice that I obey too scared to sacrifice a choice chosen for me

If only I could see
You turn myself to me
recognise the poison in my heart
there is no other place
no one else I face
The remedy, to agree, is how I feel