We Should Be Together Now

Powderfinger

What are you looking for this time around Might need something to bring you to ground Everything turning me inside and out What are you looking for this time around

It's coming in and over
It's waiting at your shoulder

You can see we should be together now Wait for me I'm pulling it together now

What are you looking for this time around Just keep telling what you have found All of this turning me upside and down What are you looking for this time around
