Rise

Presence

We must organize come together fortified shore to shore and rise the things that we have seen may be sore to the eyes planes tore through the skies Our way of life on hold we never fold we rise poor innocent lives friends, husbands, and wives what do we say to our children when we look into their eyes One moment in time forever embedded in our minds through heartache and pain we will find an unrelenting pride that we will not go down without a fight Our way of life on hold we never fold we rise poor innocent lives friends, husbands, and wives what do we say to our children when we look into their eyes Our way of life on hold we never fold we rise poor innocent lives friends, husbands, and wives what do we say to our children when a mother or father dies Our way of life on hold we never fold we rise poor innocent lives friends, husbands, and wives what do we say to our children when we look into their eyes
