

Last Safe Place

Pride of Lions

I thought the world was a safe place
A calm space, street lights and tree, lined squares
Secure from the wild world, in a child's world
Of homefires and answered prayers

But now those same streets look so strange
Except for you, the world I knew is forever changed

Here in your arms, is my dreamscape, the last safe place
Away from harm, in your embrace
Of true faith, my saving grace, the last safe place
To hide, tonight, tonight

In your eyes is my one light
A fire bright, the ember that keeps me warm
Let my heart be your center, your mentor
Your harbor in every storm

For in these times of make and break
I'll hold you harmless in the wake of shaken faith

Everytime I see your face
I'm lost forever
Everytime I hold you near
These moments I'll treasure

Now and tomorrow
A street with no end
