Where The Monkey Meets The Man

Primitive Radio Gods

You haven't changed a bit since then You always think you're so on top of thing You can't remember where you've been You can't remember who you're following

Where the river meets the ocean Where the monkey meets the man I think I can I think I can

You'll see your worlds turn inside out You'll always see the biggest part of me You'll live and die without a sound You'll never even miss the scenery

Where the river meets the ocean Where the monkey meets the man I think I can I think I can

Where the river meets the ocean Where the monkey meets the man I think I can I think I can

Where the river meets the ocean Where the hammer meets the hand I think I can I think I can
