Forever And A Day

High school drop out beaten by the city scenes Got slapped by crap she's seen all on her knees Frustrated and so mistaken Took it for real, but the world was fakin' From the alley she made it through Broken-hearted You were always on my mind Every time I open my eyes It's like forever and a day Season changes love to hate And just too little and much too late It lasts forever and a day, today!

Mouths are open fed by tears and pain Love is for sale in the street without the name Another night out, Janie was jaded Another try out, dreams were faded Lust for life can break your heart in two You were always on my mind Every time I open my eyes It's like forever and a day Season changes love to hate And just too little and much too late It lasts forever and a day, today! And much too late!
