Hell On Earth

Pro-Pain

It's 6 o'clock in the morning and I can't Remember a thing that I did last night My truth is stranger than fiction and I'll Do it all over again but I know that your right Now I'll settle for silence after 14 hours of violence I've done my time, and my points they all ring Hollow in the shallow depths of my soul and mind In my soul and mind I seemingly started a war S please don't ask me for more Cause I don't need to tell you again If I told you all once before Well at least I can say it was on Even though it just wasn't worth The pain or the price... It was hell on earth Another day in the trenches, entrenched In all of the problems of my life The scars I wear like medals, emotionally Inflicted, but some by knife Oh... you better believe it, cause I'm a Force to be reckoned with my friend Always looking for victims It's all about survival in the end It's ten o'clock in the evening And the battle rages on and I see red I try my best to fight it Ground zero marks the walls inside my head
