On Parade

now we've seen it all before and there will come a time when we'll see it all again frown upon a distant shore with intent to pulverize and sacrifice our men we live

we learn to love this senseless on parade what now? we've taken it to far we'd drawn and crossed the line like no one else before is this a test of who we are? then we must not forget our casualties of war we live. we learn. to love this senseless on parade throw us up against that wall objections overruled %NEWBLOCK%they've got us by the balls we just never seem to learn that our country tis of thee sweet land of crash and burn we live we learn we love this senseless on parade Pro-Pain
