You deny every lie, I have to say goodbye. And I love to let you know I used you up last time. And I love to let you go, I don't hate anything. I'm so f**ked up, it seems alright if I cared once again, Would it ever seem this bright? You deny every lie, I threw away that life. And now I'm someone you don't know. It will be a surprise that new places I can go. You f**ked up everything . I found out how it wasn't me. Your words don't ever change and they always make me see. Now I know what it is, I won't listen to anyone. You deny every lie. You just push me into nothing.
