

White Capstone

Project 86

Climb to the ledge
On the bones of fallen brothers
We will reach to the height of the mountain
Where we will touch the sky

Setting my eyes on the peak I'm buried in Ice
Face to the ground as the flurries fill my mouth

Lost in your light
The only way I'll make it through is
Lost in your light
I close my eyes and disappear in white

We wait for the sign
For the time of your arrival
When the stars will align
When every piece of your truth is apprised

So tell me it was worth it
So tell me I will make it
So tell me all of this was not in vain
Remind me of your promises
Remind of your faithfulness
Remind this was never about me