

Ajam lives in the steppe he loves the rolling hills the warm dry winds but his wife's love touches his heart the most her grace surpasses even the brightness of the stars her gentle voice soothes his mind

Pure love

Then came the sad day
riders raped his wife he lost his face
the elders decided that she must go through tearfull eyes he watched her leave should I renounce my pride and follow her into death he decides and never smiles again

Adam lives in a big town he loves his job his car and his life-style but most of all he loves his wife her endless energy her beauty her wit and charm

Then came the sad day
her test was positive he watched her lose her strength he decides to cancel his job for the rest of her life he'll stay by her side when the end came he held her hand and he told her that he always loved her and always will

I love you too