

Renaissance

Project Pitchfork

Ajam lives in the steppe
he loves the rolling hills
the warm dry winds
but his wife's love touches his heart the most
her grace surpasses even the brightness of the stars her gentle voice soothes his mind

Pure love

Then came the sad day
riders raped his wife
he lost his face
the elders decided that she must go through tearfull eyes
he watched her leave should I renounce my pride and follow her into death he decides and never smiles again

Adam lives in a big town he loves his job
his car and his life-style but most of all he loves his wife her endless energy
her beauty her wit and charm

Then came the sad day
her test was positive he watched her lose her strength he decides to cancel his job for the rest of her life he'll stay by her side
when the end came
he held her hand
and he told her that he always loved her and always will

I love you too