Requiem

Project Pitchfork

They follow me on a misty early morning Dancing like fools they can't stop Hypnotized eyes, they're marching in a queue Stumbling feet are raising dust in the avenue They'll dance until they're exhausted One by one Death caused by flute Like rats they are all leaving the town I'll get them all Kill them all One by one They'll fade away No hope for them They will obey I'll get them all Kill them all One by one They'll fade away No hope for them They will obey One by one They follow me That's the price they pay Vibrating sounds in the air And the sky is gray I did it before And I'll do it again Another time Another way to pay They'll lose their children 'Cause I am now back again They don't notice the way I'll make them insane Their kids are sitting In front of machines No more vibrating sounds But hypnotizing lights They're staring into monitors They're staring into monitors I'll get them all Kill them all One by one They'll fade away

No hope for them They will obey I'll get them all Kill them all One by one They'll fade away No hope for them They will obey One by one One by one One by one One by one Hypnotized eyes They're marching in a queue Stumbling feet are raising dust in the avenue They'll dance until they're exhausted One by one Death caused by flute Like rats they are all leaving the town I did it before And I'll do it again Another time Another way to pay They'll lose their children 'Cause I am now back again They don't notice the way I'll make them insane I'll get them all Kill them all One by one They'll fade away No hope for them They will obey I'll get them all Kill them all One by one They'll fade away No hope for them They will obey One by one One by one One by one One by one One by one
