

The Cruel, The Kind, The Bad

Psapp

A poison pen
told you the truth
what you already know and now it's time to fall apart
save the good in you

he cheats you
he lies to you and you're not meant to mind he's taken your best years away but he's all that you can find today will be the way you dry your eyes and walk away he's taken all the love you gave

and all the love you made the box

you made a box put in every thought you had the hopeful endless wishing
the cruel, the kind, the bad

you knew it he would do it and what you'd wade through he's made of bones and rust and fear oh that man won't do you're made of stronger stuff and it's not you who needs to change this is only one day one day of many days

today will be the way you dry your eyes and walk away
he's taken all the love you gave
and all the love you made