Loathe Thy Neighbor

Psychostick

Picture an elderly lady peeking through her blinds You wave her a friendly hello While she glares with judging eyes Her glasses held by chails on pointy 1960's frames They help her see your faults As she's squinting with disdain

A retired English teacher with an overwhelming fragrance Still alive too stubborn to die And death don't have the patience She has more cats than children by an order of magnitude And when ever she loses at bingo She takes it out on you

Calls the cops on her rotary phone Every time you try to mow the lawn

Close your blinds lock your doors I mind my business now you mind yours Keep to yourself and stay off my grass Now get off my porch and get off my ass

Get off my ass go back inside Stay in your home leave me alone

Imagine a jerk in his 40's In front of the broke down house that he rents Not all that bright chugging Natural Light Flicking ciggarette butts over your fence Screaming all day at his beat up truck That he always fails to repair More stains on his shirt than teeth in his mouth And he doesn't seem to care

A former high school quarterback With delusions of long past glory Blasts 80's crap from his Pontiac As he tells you his whole life story He parks and blocks my driveway then Dumps his cup of tobacco spit Setting fireworks of after midnight? I'm about to lose my SHHH-... temper.

Mows his lawn at 2 a.m. He likes me but I hate him Deadbeat dad he doesn't pay child support Looks like Carl from Aqua Teen Hunger Force

Close your blinds lock your doors I mind my business now you mind yours Keep to yourself and stay off my grass Now get off my porch and get off my ass

We all hate the HOA All the homes they look the same The mortage states the house belongs to me You need to chill the fuck out and get off my property Some are so friendly but some of them are enemies Makes me neurotic and keeps me on guard Battling those neighbors with tolerant diplomacy Tempts me to pour bleach on their yard

I pour bleach on your yard I spelled "BITCH" on your lawn That's right FUCK your grass Loathe thy neighbor