You Know What You Are

don't try to reason no words, no words i've seen it all before don't cry because it is too late we make some people think that's all they need to get home now look into my eyes i've seen the light the star starts in the west we have until we cry last time we offer it's going to slaughter out his covered eyes like in a really happy ending don't look into my eyes you're gonna die please don't kill me now in a house of guilty hate we go around in circles retaliate ignore the pain ignore the terror we saw the tears lost in their eyes

Psyclon Nine