

Slide Away

Puddle of Mudd

If tomorrow was your last day
Who would you see and what would you say
Where might you go if tomorrow was the end of the world
As you know it

If tomorrow was your last chance
To do all the things that you dreamed of all your life
Maybe you wanna run with the someone or somehow got away
Somehow got away from you

I can't watch you slide away,
I'm gonna let you slip away, again
I don't want to, be afraid of
Pain

If today was that day
Where would you run? Would you get on your knees and pray
If today was the last day?
Who would you call? Your family?
If today, somehow, didn't come around for you
This time and you already missed your chance

I can't watch you slide away,
I'm gonna let you slip away, again
I don't want to, be afraid of
Pain

You know you didn't call
When you have to make a change
Make a sacrifice for the player in your life
Looking in the mirror, your reflection only clearer
Want it, today was that day
Why don't you, take your chance today

I can't watch you slide away,
I'm gonna let you slip away, again
I don't want to, be afraid of
Pain

Take your chance now

I can't watch you slide away,
I'm gonna let you slip away, again

It's your last day
