

You Mean The World To Me

Punchline

Can't breathe.
I don't know why you do this to me.
Stop please.
At least show me some sympathy.
Far from you, you will be gone.
Left with my memories of what should have been
I try hard not to smile when you're around.
All the while you're smiling away.
Be careful with that heart in your hands
Cause it's mine
It's been battered and broken many times before
But I left it at your door on Valentines Day
'cause You mean the world to me.
Not sure how to tell you i think about you all the time.
(You must be blind)
But I've gotta tell you somehow.
Where to start from?
My heart's gone.
You remain a mystery
As i take a look into your eyes
(you're a star so bright)
You could light a thousand skies.
Sweeter than the candy in your hands.
Be careful with that heart in your hands
Cause it's mine
It's been battered and broken many times before
So I left it at your door on Valentines Day
'cause You mean the world to me.

'cause You mean the world to me.