

She's Gotten Over You

Puressence

Take what you want,
'Cause this ship's going down,
Fate, let it run, even though she's not around.

You can feel the warmth coming from her face,
For someone else trying to take your place,
And you know she's almost gotten over you.

There's a secret world where you try and hide,
You want to live but you're dead inside,
'Cause you know she's almost gotten over you.

You're remembering that smile,
The last look in her eye,
Your heart beats like a hummingbird's.

You created, she destroyed,
The things that you enjoyed,
You don't believe another word.

You can feel the warmth coming from her face,
For someone else trying to take your place,
And you know she's almost gotten over you.

There's a secret world where you try and hide,
You want to live but you're dead inside,
Now you're trying to make your paracosms true

You can feel the warmth coming from her face,
For someone else trying to take your place,
And you know she's almost gotten over you.

There's a secret world where you try and hide,
You want to live but you're dead inside,
'Cause you know she's almost gotten over you.

She's gotten over you,
She's gotten over you,
She's gotten over you.