

I'm not trying to resolve
And I'm not trying to put you at fault
There's a reason for it all
And there's a fear I can't even show
And you can blame me of it all
I should've walk before I could crawl
Though we both went overboard
You're just too hot two adults.

Cause you just play on
But you just play
With my feelings
And leave it all, blame it all
Inexperienced
Since you rubbed your back with my heart
Why did I give it again?
It's time you broke against my direction
It takes a soul stick to me.

You still, I still can't find my feelings
So I turn to you, look the other way
So I won't see you kill this face
Couldn't help falling in again
I couldn't help it
Tried to pick my words away
And it's time only heals this game
Time only heals this game.

You just play on
But you just play
With my feelings
Blame it all
You still blame it all
Inexperienced
Since you rubbed your back with my heart
Why did I give it again?
It's time you broke against my direction
It takes a soul stick to me.

Cause you just play on
You just play with my feelings
And blame it, I'm inexperienced
Since you rubbed your back with my heart
Why did I give it again?
It's time you broke against my direction
It takes a soul stick to me.

But why does it take a salt sea to meet you?
Why does it take a salt sea to
Why does it take a salt sea to meet you?
Why does it take a salt sea?
