

Cold

Queensrÿche

There's gotta be more than this
Cause what you're sayin' don't make sense
The fire in your eyes
Has gone out again

And the only thing I want
In the middle of disarray
Are words that can make you stay
Something that shakes you

Would you wait here
Would you turn away
We've been at this too long
I don't know what went wrong
Would you stay here
If I begged you to
Is there something I can do
You're so cold

It's not a game that can be won
It's not a fight that's ever done
When it cuts you deep within
You want, you want it more

At that moment
When you're broken
And you struggle and sacrifice
Suddenly you feel it
That's when you know
That's when you know
This feels right

Would you wait here
Would you turn away
If I hadn't left you alone
You'd be standing here
Standing here
Would you stay here
If I begged you to
Oh what more can I do
You're (so damn cold) so cold

Would you wait here
Would you turn away
If you walked right out the door
I won't beg you anymore
Would you stay here
With me now
There's no more room for doubt
You're so damn cold

You're so cold
It's a good time to move along
You want something more than this
More than this
Do you even know how
You're so damn cold

You're so cold
You're so damn cold
