

Fading Light

Quietdrive

Her voice it whispers in the dark that sweet sweet sound
I remember, yes I remember
Her face a perfect work of art
That soft soft skin
I hold you close and for a moment I breathe you in
All this time we've been growing up
I've wanted something to live for
I know we've been in love so long
But I'll see you again, where we can be free,
Where all of the stars are fading, the gravity consuming me
I'll see you again, when all of the stars are fading
and I'll be waiting for you
Her Eyes are the brighter than the sun, my only one
I surrender, yes I surrender
And when, and when you go away seconds feel like days
And in this moment I collapse and fade away
All this time we've been growing up
I've wanted something to live for
I know we've been in love so long
But I'll see you again, where we can be free,
Where all of the stars are fading, the gravity consuming me
I'll see you again, when all of the stars are fading
and I'll be waiting for you
(for you)
(for you)
(they're waiting for you)
I'll see you again
when all the stars are fading
(the gravity)
(the gravity)
All this time we've been growing up
I've wanted something to live for
I know we've been in love so long
But I'll see you again, where we can be free,
Where all of the stars are fading, the gravity consuming me
I'll see you again, when all of the stars are fading
and I'll be waiting for you
