

Virgo

Quill

Well I'm leaving for the temple of life once again Cause I've become one of those beggars who's denying today
On top of the world lies a virgo, yeah I thought she was gone
Nobody knows where I'm going, no one knows where I'm from

Well I'm heading for the mountain of greed, yes I am
Need to silent the volcanoes crying atomic rain
I spit on the future, wishing for a light in the black
Seven more days of penance won't be bringing her back

I believe I saw the maker
Breaking down before my feet
I never meant to kill the virgo
I couldn't help but let her flee

I don't know where I am going
I don't know where I am going
Do you know where we are going
I don't know where I am going