

Everything

Quincy Jones

What would I give to hold you once again
What would I give to make this loneliness end
If I could bring you back
Back to where this love once lived
What would I give?
Everything

What would I do for one more precious moment with you
What would it take to make your heart hear the truth
To ease our pain I caused
Make up for the time I lost with you
What would I do?
Anything

Are you doing all right?
Have you found a life apart from me?
As it bring(s) you happiness
I don't want to know about it
'Cause night after night I try to fight the emptiness
In this quiet room
Life goes on without you

Where would I go
If only you would ask me to
No road is too long if it would lead me back to you
Somehow I found a way
If you called to say that you need me there

Where would I go?
Anywhere

Are you doing all right?
Have you found a life apart from me?
For now I must confess
That I don't want to talk about it
'Cause night after night I try to fight the emptiness
In this silent room
There's no peace without you

What would I give to hear you say you love me again
What would it take to make this loneliness end
If I could bring you back
Back to where this love once lived
What would I give?
Everything

What would I do?
Anything

What would I give? Oh...
Everything
