

Easier Than This

Ra

Under the bodhi tree
I saw you next to me
Closing your eyes and looking in Clouds in the sky today
Thoughts as we drift away
Free from our wounds and from our sin

Islands of loss turn around
And bring your feet to the ground
For the sun lives within you and it burns where you stand all alone

Outside the temple gates Something eternal waits endless and so misunderstood frozen in time you fall down from the highest wall clinging for life to what you could careless and bold do I find myself I see so blind so blind so...

I can't dream of yesterday
And everything I see remembers who you were
The day that you had come to me
And I can't find the words to say Shouldn't it be easier than this
So much easier than this for me

Under the falling rain
I carry a broken chain
Poisoned and fighting for my soul
Simple and mesmerized
My anger is exorcised
Slowly my heart is turned to coal

I can't say no, I can't give in I can't let go of what I'm in
I don't know how, it might be now
But it won't be all that you want from Cause I can't believe in me
