

Always Be My Home

Rachael Lampa

Your heart will always be my home
No matter where I go
No matter what may come
You'll be my shelter in the storm
A harbor safe and sound
Where only true forgiveness can be found

But still I wanna run away
And go it all alone
When will I ever learn from my mistakes?

And I can't live without Your love
'Cause Your eyes have seen beyond the things I'm guilty of
I won't be afraid to turn back down the road
'Cause Your heart will always be my home

And when I've cried a thousand tears
You've always wiped them dry
And watched me as I spread my wings and fly
To a place where holiness begins
And mercy never ends
And I will find my freedom once again

But still I wanna run away
And go it all alone
When will I ever learn from my mistakes?

And I can't live without Your love
'Cause Your eyes have seen beyond the things I'm guilty of
I won't be afraid to turn back down the road
'Cause Your heart will always be my home

Your hands are always open
To catch me when I fall
I feel a million miles away
But that's no distance at all

Go out and stay, I wanna run away
And go it all alone
When will I ever learn from my mistakes?

And I can't live without Your love
'Cause Your eyes have seen beyond the things I'm guilty of
I won't be afraid to turn back down the road
'Cause Your heart will always be my home
'Cause Your heart will always be my home