

Of Blue

Rachael Sage

You say that you find me intoxicating
What dare I ask does that word really mean?
Could I be someone who you would rely on?
Or am I just someone you'll always run from?
All I ask is that you decide soon
Cause I'm lying here in this limbo.
All I ask is that you decide soon,
So I can know whether
to say still or let go of blue.
You say that this friendship is for other lifetimes
What dare I ask does that phrase really mean?
Could I be some key that you'll end up turning?
Or am I just black coal your courage is burning?
All I ask is that you decide soon
Cause I'm lying here in this limbo.
All I ask is that you decide soon,
So I can know whether
to say still or let go of blue.
You said when you broke down that your hope was fading,
Circling around you - the moon was almost gone.
Who'll be the liberty that you have been awaiting?
Who'll be the Salome that you will just abandon?
All I ask is that you decide soon
Cause I'm lying here in this limbo.
All I ask is that you decide soon,
So I can know whether
to say still or let go of blue.
