

Do you miss me at all? Do you turn off the light when you sleep?

I always leave the light on.

Do you crawl when you creep?

Do you fly when you fall from above?

I always fall for someone.

When the rain comes down are you there in your room listening hard for the thunder.

When the rain comes down are you where you need to be to appreciate the great unbeauty.

Do you miss me at all?

Do you turn off the light when you dream?

I always leave the light on.

And are you just what you seen?

Did you always believe in the one?

I still believe you might come.

When the sun comes up are you there in your room listening hard for the silence.

When the sun comes up are you where you need to be to appreciate the great unbeauty.

Do you miss me at all?

Do you turn off the light when you love?

I always leave the light on.

Do you crawl when you creep?

Do you fly when you fall from above?

I always fall for someone.

When the darkness falls are you there in your room listening hard for the distance.

When the darkness falls are you where you need to be to appreciate the great unbeauty, unbeauty, unbeauty.