

Prove Me Right

Radney Foster

I believe in leather saddles
Walk in barrows, and digging your battles
And good whiskey has never done me wrong
I believe in pretty women
Little kids smiles and worn out denim
The way Waylon used to tear up a country song

I believe love is hard to handle
Wild and crazy, it's a long shot gamble
If you're gonna win, gotta play your cards right
I believe love is coming to me
Faster than the way that you're looking right through me
Judging from the way I feel tonight
I believe you just might prove me right

I probably oughta do a little less talking
Go to bark and laugh more often
And pray harder when nothin' else will do
I belong in honky tonk bar-rooms
Singing songs bout things I've gone through
Wrapped in arms of somebody like you

I believe love is hard to handle
Wild and crazy, it's a long shot gamble
If you're gonna win, gotta play your cards right
I believe love is coming to me
Faster than the way that you're looking right through me
Judging from the way I feel tonight
I believe you just might prove me right

Until now I have held off
For one real shot at what real love's got

I believe love is coming to me
Faster than the way that you're looking right through me
Judging from the way I feel tonight
I believe you just might prove me right
I believe you just might prove me right

Yeah, yeah
