God is Wasted

Ragnarok

Burn the skeleton of Gods child Let the rest of him disappear in open air as smoke from the stake His soul turn to nothing and his spell that blessed the earth dies with him You can't see a thing that reminds me of him earth is malignant once again This is the dark age... never ending horror and fear for existence Gods men on earth have left (Christians) you have no longer your faith Your God is dead a victory and feast for the Devils men No more times in glory no weakness can harm this earth again The earth was never ment for his glory it was meant for us and the Devils path We will watch you... God We will watch you do the same mistake we will watch your moves as raven high above earths surface We will be ready and the next time you try to conquer the world by sending your child well he die while he still lies in the cradle God is wasted... his son has been removed from the soil Burn the child... Let him never get his hands on this earth again GOD IS WASTED
