

The Predicted Future

Ragnarok

A thick mist in a cold Autumn night lies on the ground and devastates the environment
A moonfog makes the infernal mood
A time comes when man gets his bestial mind
The dark sign blazes through the sky a sign who calls the day of doom the world have predicted future a future in violence and bloodwar Blood must be granted and lives must be offered But however our weapons will be fouled with the opponents blood Try to understand... Foolish ones you are not created by Nature your God have nothing to do here Can't you hear the anger
The wrath of Nature King is coming closer and the destiny is...
Doom
Get the fuck out of our world or die while you still believe As warm and cold clouds make the thunder do good and evil end with war
The black flame burns and from the mountain high rises a world that it was meant be Evil calls... the brotherhood of beasts Evil knights... will create the perfect world