

Five o'clock in the morning, one fast call
You said we'd meet at your place, in your room
No one would be there, so I walked up the stairs
And you stood by the door, cooked some food for me
And that was sweet
And that was sweet

I love you
I love you
I love you
Get out of me or stay there forever

Music, brandy and your eyes, all through the night
Then you laid me down or I laid you down
There must have been some mistake, but you touched my hair
And then a pain took over a two years old pain
And that's not sweet
No that's not sweet

I love you
I love you
I love you
Get out of me or stay there forever

Now in this house again, on the same bed
I must not go back there, I think I owe you an apology
For the first time in my life, I think I owe an apology
I miss you so, give me a way to tell you this Cause that's not sweet
No that's not sweet

I love you
I love you
I love you
Get out of me or stay there forever, forever, forever, forever
