

Shake a Little

Bonnie Raitt

In the shadow of your father
Sweet brown eyes of the one I love
I can't wait another minute baby
To do the things that we never done

Everybody gets hungry sometimes
Your love is like a kettle on
In the shadow of your father
Guess I get a little sad sometimes

Shake a little for me baby
Take me to the water when my well runs dry
Shake a little for me baby
Just a little now, just a little now

Everybody gets lonely sometimes
Guess a stranger is a friend in need
In the shadow of this New York skyline
All these stories looking down on me

Everybody feels the water rising
It could go on to her or enjoy the ride
Ah when you're dancing for me now baby
I don't feel so small against the tide

Shake a little for me baby
Take me to the water when my well runs dry
Shake a little for me baby

Shake a little for me baby
Take me to the water when my cup runs dry
Shake a little for me baby
Just a little now, just a little now, just a little now

Shake a little for me baby
Take me to the water when my cup runs dry
Shake a little for me baby

Shake a little for me baby
Yeah baby, shake it onetime for me
Shake a little for me baby
Just a little now, just a little now, just a little now

Shake a little for me baby
Shake a little for me baby
Shake a little for me baby
Shake a little for me baby
