Eternal Voice

Last dawn be... It just felt like be already knew She killed him with all her senses He was ready to fall

She wanted this what so ever So attracted to all the pain She hoped it could last forever Now there was only one thing left

This is the end of their journey

I'll keep your soul in my mind Your blood in my veins Your faith in my hand

So don't be afraid my little angel You're protected for the rest of this life Soon you will be clear to see There will be no regrets

Speak up to the dead they won't hurt us This is just my eternal voice Predicting for you to see That you're willing to die for me

This is the end of their journey

I'll keep your soul in my mind Your blood in my veins Your faith in my hand Ram-Zet