

I visited Russia
And I started folding
Until in one precious
Doll I had hoarded
All of Siberia
I said, "Love, here you go"
She said, "Too little too late"

A trip to the Nile
Where I started swimming
Upstream until I finally
Found the spring brimming
With God's purest water
From Abba the Father
To heal her
She said, "Too little too late."

I sailed to Komodo
I fought with the dragons
When it was over
Their tails were wagging
For I taught them tricks
Said, "Sit, dragon, sit"
I brought her a pet
She said, "Too little too late"

I rode into China
I studied the Wall
And I lapped it seven times
Which caused it to fall
It spilled out her fortune
I found luck's origin
Well, here you go
She said, "Too little too late"

She said, "Too little too late"

"Too little too late"
