

You Start Over Your Way

Randy Rogers Band

Well, you showed up looking just like I remember
Just like I knew you would Worried if my heart was breaking just like it should Working hard on your good time, showing off your new life
To God and everyone in this bar
I'll leave it to you, baby, you always had to be the star

But I've got the road less traveled
My dreams unraveled
A broken heart that suits me fine
Yeah, my load's a little lighter from a string of all-nighters
A bottle for killin' time
Honey, you start over your way, yeah, and I'll start over mine

If you're here to make amends
I'll let you rub it in
But I'm not gonna play the fool
Yeah, 'cause even if the rumors were true I could never tell yo u

Well, you quit on me but, baby, I don't give up easy
Yeah, well, I might look fine but looks can be deceiving