

Even The Best Of Friends

Randy Stonehill

Even the best of friends
Give in sometimes to their darker side
Put up a wall of stubborn pride
Not willing to make amends
Even the best of friends
Betray your trust in a moment of anger and it's so easy to point a finger
And that's how it all began
With even the best of friends

Even the best of friends
Don't always see things eye to eye
Won't always understand just why
But that's when they should try to bend
Even the best of friends
They need to cling to their common ground
Before the hurt starts coming down
And they can't turn around again
Even the best of friends

You and I
We paid so many dues
I still remember those happy, hungry days
Makes me cry
'Cause I can't get through to you
What did I do to make you turn away

Even the best of friends
Have to speak though the truth might sting
Though it's hard it's the loving thing
The only way wounds will mend
Even the best of friends
They have to learn to forgive each other
Take all the faults that true love covers
And just let them go in the wind
Even the best of friends
Even the best of friends
Even the best of friends
