Price to Pay

Randy Travis

I wonder how we got like this Your heart wasn't mine to take Mine wasn't mine to give And love wasn't ours to save

I shoulda let you go when I could When the memories Weren't so many or so good And one night was such a small price to pay

A small price to pay When a touch was all it was When the fire was just a candle flame Throwing shadows of us

What I wouldn't give now For those long gone yesterdays When one night Was such a small price to pay

Well I guess we'd better go Maybe this time for good But the last time wasn't though But never again, sure feels good to say

And I think back to the times When everything I treasured Wasn't on this fragile mind And one night was such a small price to pay

A small price to pay When a touch was all it was When the fire was just a candle flame Throwing shadows of us

What I wouldn't give now For those long gone yesterdays When one night was such a small price to pay Back when one night was such a small price to pay
