

Which Way Will You Choose?

Randy Travis

As the world becomes entwined in the lies from Satan's mind
A leader will arise to take the reins
Saying, "Love will bring us peace if you put your hope in me
Renouncing the name of Jesus or be slain"

Which way will you choose?
Which way will you choose?
You got everything to gain
You got everything to lose

As the masses take his mark, believe the lie to chill there hearts
They'll know the time has come to seal their fate
Those who cling to the cross will refuse and pay the cost
As God redeems his own from the sea of hate

Which way will you choose?
Which way will you choose?
You got everything to gain
You got everything to lose

As the age draws to an end hope will tumble down again
The Lord will make them feel their sin and shame
You can make the choice right now, trust in Christ our hope and crown
Or watch the world you love go up in flames

Which way will you choose?
Which way will you choose?
You got everything to gain
You got everything to lose

Which way will you choose?
Which way will you choose?
You got everything to gain
You got everything to lose
