[Outro:]

I've been thinking about the days when I'd come by Knocking on your door for your company
Instead I see your mother, who came to answer the door
Reporting to my misfortune that you fast asleep
Them days when I'd tell lies
Playing with your hair through the summer breeze
Tell you that I love you, I'll always be here forever
How clever was my disguise cause you fell for me
Them days when you, come through
Never really thought that you'd ever run from me
Now you stay away and I'm praying that you're ok cause I knew you were suici dal in the mind at least
