

Each Time

Ray Price

Each time I see your picture
A flood of memories starts
And the blue tide that's rising around my feet
Is breaking inside my heart

And though I fight with all of my might
The burning desire remain
For each time I see your picture
I lose my heart again

I hide the frame to shut out the pain
Then wake up searching the dark
Oh, I just can't rest until I caress the cold glass
That's holding my heart

I haven't yet learned how to forget
And the burning desire remain
For each time I see your picture
I lose my heart again