

The Endless

Razed in Black

She waits
Silently
Patiently
For the key to his mind
A dream he won't let go
His heart too barren for more
And then she wants to take it
To ride it, unlock the door
Open the gate, to his soul, never to bare
Never more

Her fate is kept captive
Among the few that control the floor
Her desire imprisoned, locked
Though comfort sets in the arms of more
With her destiny
Full of despair
Delirium
With destruction
Yet whirling, crushing in her mind
Yet no to wake to find

To capture this
Her dreams are endless
Her darkest light never allowed to glow
To capture this
Her dreams are endless
A nightmare imprisoned in her soul