

I'll Only Say It Once

Razor

I'll only say it once, don't ask me to repeat it like I said before, I don't like you just once you met me, and you don't wanna bet me you'd better like what I'm about to do so where'd you stash the money, no don't make me look you want to live another day my friend lay it on the line 'cause you know what's yours in mine the word we chose to use that day was lend

You only live once, better run fast I don't need excuses, I like it to last you only live once, better run fast

I'll only say it once, that was my old lady hey, don't let me see you talk or touch I'm not too good with pity so be telling the whole city be telling them that I'm too fucking much cause there was another man that crossed the line just once just ask, if only he could talk his face has soft of changed this guy I rearranged he ran now if only he could walk

I'll only say it once, this here is my bottle just in case I need to drink if you run out of wine, remember that it's mine that should be enough to make you think I've worked for what I own, nobody's gonna take it so shake it off before you dare I'll just like ice, I'll never say it twice I'm just like the electric chair
