Myself Without You

Reba McEntire

When you walked out that door I was so sure my world had ended So sure I'd never get over you

On that first night alone I cried so many tears it scared me So many dreams that I had to let go But now I know

That the world still turns and the sun still burns And that's what I've learned without you And the days roll on and my heart gets stronger too Don't think I didn't love you Just because I made it through But I learned to love myself Without you

I take myself to dinner
And I go to the movies solo
That's something I never did before

You may not understand this
But I don't' wait on invitations
I'm not afraid of the great unknown
Of being alone cause the

The world still turns and the sun still burns
And that's what I've learned without you
And the days roll on and my heart gets stronger too
Don't think I didn't love you
Just because I made it through
But I learned to love myself
Without you

I can even see myself
Falling in love with somebody else
Ready to take that chance again
Cause I know now
What I didn't know then

That the world still turns and the sun still burns And that's what I've learned without you And the days roll on and my heart gets stronger too Don't think I didn't love you Just because I made it through But I learned to love myself Without you
